Directions (11 to 15): Read the passage and answer the following questions.

In terms of the total energy consumed by different sectors, the largest consumer is understandably the industrial sector, which accounts for nearly half the total energy used in the country today. This is followed by the transport sector which consumes about 25%, the household sector (about 14%) and the agricultural sector (about 9%). This last sector has shown considerable increase in energy use over the last four decades. Among the primary fuels, the relative promotion of coal has dropped from the earlier 80% to 40% and that of oil has gone up from 17% to 46% over the same period.

Total energy consumption in India today is equivalent to 245 million tons of oil of which 23% comes from wood. On a per capita basis it works out to about 1 litre of oil per day, which is extremely low by international standards. The future energy demand depends upon the level of development and also on the sections of people to be affected by it.

The energy disparity between the urban and the rural population is at present as wide as between nations on a world wide scale. There is apparently a greater need to provide energy in the rural areas and to improve the national figures for energy consumption, limiting its use to those who are getting the bulk share already.

With the projected rate of population growth, improving upon the per capita energy consumption is a Herculean task as our coal reserves and the capacity to import oil cannot be increased beyond a point. There is clearly no escape from the utilization of renewable energy source in a big way if the gap between the desired levels of energy supply and available resource has to be kept at the minimum.

11. Which of the following has been suggested by the author as the best possible solution to overcome energy crisis?
(a) exploration of oil reserves
(b) importing large quantities of coal
(c) maximization of renewable source
(d) reducing share of bulk users
12. Which of the following shows correctly the different sectors consuming energy arranged in ascending order?
(a) industrial, household, agriculture, transport
(b) industrial, transport, household, agriculture
(c) agriculture, household, transport, industrial
(d) agriculture, transport, household, industrial
13. "There is clearly no escape..." means
(a) there is hardly any alternative except
(b) there is a way out but it is ambiguous
(c) there is a problem but not without solution
(d) there is also no solution of this
14. The author feels that increasing per capita use of energy is
(a) rather difficult but not impossible
(b) a matter of great difficulty
(c) not at all desirable
(d) not easy but certainly achievable
15. Which of the following has been mentioned as a major hurdle in enhancing per capita consumption of energy in India?
(a) disparity in use of energy in rural and urban areas
(b) increased use of energy in agricultural sector
(c) present level of development in India
(d) none of the above

GLOSSARY

Direction : (Q. 41. to 50)

- Never again. That's the phrase that should be written in lipstick on the bathroom mirror of every parent who has ever let teenagers give a party at home. Yet every weekend, thousands of parents not only agree to let their teenage children have a party at home, they also find themselves nodding happily and saying, 'Oh, well, if you're sure you want us to go out...'
- 05 This is what happened at Devanshi's 15th birthday party. Only now, 15 years later, can he and father talk about it. Laughing about it may take another 15 years.
- 10 The house started to fill up with her friends, and then a group of gatecrashers arrived. She can recall the glass front door being smashed and some of her older friends taking the key to her father's very expensive car and driving round the city. But the worst part was when her father came home and discovered that 30 computer games were missing. He telephoned the parents of all his daughter's friends. In the end, a boy from a very wealthy family brought them back.
- 'The whole thing was a nightmare.' Says Devanshi. 'The party was bad enough, but to have my dad ringing everyone like that, I was so embarrassed.'
- 20 Anu remembers a party she had. 'Someone filled the bath with water, then added tomato sauce, and everyone jumped in. They then went down to the beach to go swimming, where someone stole most of their clothes. At six in the morning, their poor parents received a phone call, asking them to come and collect them.'
- 25 Many parents return home to find their houses emptied of everything except the dog food. At the end of Manoj's party, his father (a policeman) came home to find some young guests had eaten a kilo packet of pistachio. He said he was going to test for fingerprints to find out who had opened the packet. The guilty boy admitted it immediately, and his parents were sent a bill.
- 30 So the advice to parents is - stay at home. Or prepare for a nightmare on your return.
